Table of Contents

Editors.....	iii
List of Hosts, Patrons, and Sponsors.....	iv
Preface.....	xii
List of Reviewers.....	xiii
D. H. Pletscher and S. Csányi.....	xiv
Wildlife, land, and people: priorities for the 21st century
A. Göncz.....	xvi
A welcome letter to participants of the Second International Wildlife Management Congress
K. Tamás.....	xvii
Opening comments for the Second International Wildlife Management Congress

Chapter 1

Sustainable development and wildlife conservation

1.1 J. E. Miller.....	1
The Wildlife Society's role in international wildlife conservation and management
1.2 M. E. Soulé.....	5
Does sustainable development help nature?
1.3 G. Child.....	7
Managing wildlife in Africa sustainably

Chapter 2

Global issues in sustainable development

2.1 T. Laws.....	11
Sustainable use of wetlands and waterfowl hunting in the United Kingdom
2.2 P. Pechacek.....	15
Tree selection for roosting and nesting in the three-toed woodpecker: consequences for forest management
2.3 R. Boegel and A. Lotz.....	19
Analyzing habitat selection of chamois: a question of defining habitat availability
2.4 I. A. Domski, S. I. Minkov, K. N. Gruzdev, and V. V. Mikhalishin.....	23
Epizootic situation and rabies prophylaxis in wild and domestic animals in Russia
2.5 C. Bonacic, F. Bas, J. L. Galaz, L. Villalba, G. Villouta, and D. W. Macdonald.....	26
Sustainable use of the vicuña (Vicugna vicugna): a critical analysis

2.6	W. Wettstein.....	31
	Conservation status of the corncrake in Szatmár-Bereg, Eastern Hungary
2.7	S. Annenkova.....	34
	Problems of game preservation in Kazakhstan
2.8	W. Schroeder, C. Promberger, and O. Ionescu.....	35
	A strategy and action plan for large carnivore conservation in Romania
2.9	A. Srivastava and S. M. Mohnot.....	37
	Protected-area network: answer to primate conservation
2.10	A. M. Licoppe and S. A. de Crombrugghe.....	41
	Using a habitat suitability index (HSI) in red deer management
2.11	H. Zeiler, H. Gossow, and M. Breuss.....	46
	Forestry changes and capercaillie habitat in the Austrian Alps
2.12	C. Averbeck.....	50
	Integrating rural communities and wildlife conservation in Nyabushozi, Uganda

Chapter 3

Landscapes linkages: ecosystem science and management

3.1	P. Angelstam.....	54
	Large mammals, people, and the landscape—can trophic interactions be managed?
3.2	S. Berwick, B. G. Marcot, P. Paquet, and P. Whitney.....	60
	Ecosystem-based selection of wildlife species for comparing future landscape alternatives in the Columbia River Basin
3.3	W. H. Byun and S.-I. Yoon.....	64
	Survival of pen-reared Korean ring-necked pheasants after release
3.4	I. Glitzner and F. Voelk.....	68
	Freeways and big game mobility
3.5	J. M. Pérez, J. E. Granados, R. C. Soriguer, M. C. Pérez-Alvarado, P. Fandos, F. J. Márquez, and J. García.....	72
	Updating conservation strategies: a case of Spanish ibex in the Sierra Nevada National Game Reserve, Spain
3.6	D. Capizzi, M. Gustin, A. De Berardinis, S. Gellini, and M. Genghini.....	75
	Bird communities in orchards of varying pesticide use: a case-study in northern Italy
3.7	F. H. Voelk.....	79
	Barkpeeling in relation to red deer density and forest structure in Austria
3.8	T. Csörgő, Z. Karcza, and S. Palkó.....	84
	Use of long-term birdringing data for monitoring passerine populations in Hungary
3.9	O. Boudry and C. R. Neet.....	87
	Genetic structure of wild boar (Sus scrofa) populations from Switzerland and France

3.10	G. Halmos and T. Csörgő.....	90
	Important refueling wetlands for waders in Tunisia
3.11	A. S. Harestad and G. D. Sutherland.....	93
	Dispersal by mammals and forest fragmentation
3.12	G. Horváth, Z. Wagner, and M. Tölgyesi.....	97
	Effects of sex and age on survival in three rodent populations in a forest reserve habitat
3.13	G. Horváth, V. Pintér, and S. Kalmár.....	101
	Changes in the rodent community structure in an abandoned field habitat
3.14	G. Horváth, B. Trócsányi, and S. Kalmár.....	105
	Data on the autumn demography and range use of Apodemus agrarius
3.15	D. C. McCluskey and C. A. Jauhola.....	109
	Cooperative approaches to riparian habitat restoration
3.16	C. R. Neet.....	113
	Does hunting influence spatial distribution of wild boars (Sus scrofa)?
3.17	S. Rouys and M. Krasinska.....	115
	Influence of supplementary winter feeding on the daily travel distance of European bison in the Białowieża Forest, Poland
3.18	B. Seidel.....	117
	Impacts of hydroelectric power plants on riverbank ecology
3.19	W. B. Kessler, S. C. DeLong, K. R. Parker, and K. L. Zimmerman.....	119
	Biodiversity conservation management based on disturbance ecology in sub-boreal spruce forests
3.20	D. S. Maehr, T. S. Hootor, and L. D. Harris.....	123
	Remedies for a denatured biota: restoring landscapes for native carnivores
3.21	I. Fischer and I. Storch.....	128
	Capercaillie and woodpeckers in alpine forests: assessing the indicator species concept
3.22	N. L. Berwick.....	132
	Essential fish habitat: a conservation approach responsive to anadromous salmon biology
3.23	C. G. White, S. H. Schweitzer, P. E. Hale, L. A. Lewis, J. J. Morgan, and M. K. Schaeffbauer.....	136
	Managing pine plantations within an agricultural landscape to enhance habitat for northern bobwhites, songbirds, and eastern wild turkeys
3.24	W. R. Clark, B. L. Falk, R. A. Schmitz, and B. A. Babcock.....	139
	Projecting the wildlife and economic impacts of United States agricultural policy using landscape-level analyses
3.25	A. Smyth, D. Lamb, and H. McCallum.....	144
	Sustainable forest management of farmland birds: a conceptual model
3.26	W. D. Edge, J. P. Hayes, D. Hibbs, J. Tappeiner, R. Gresswell, and E. Starkey.....	148
	The Cooperative Forest Ecosystem Research program: developing research for a large-scale management plan

3.27	A. Tóth, G. Lakatos, B. Kiss, Z. Müller, K. Macalik, and M. Braun.....	151
	Environmental heterogeneity and biodiversity in created wetlands in Hungary
3.28	P. L. Ford.....	155
	Small-mammal community response to fire in shortgrass steppe of the southern Great Plains

Chapter 4

Human dimensions in wildlife conservation

4.1	R. Gokhelashvili, A. Gavashelishvili, and I. Kazalishvili.....	158
	Wildlife management in Kazbegi District of the Georgian Caucasus
4.2	P. Jackson.....	161
	Can large carnivores survive?
4.3	J. Hadidian, M. R. Childs, R. H. Schmidt, L. J. Simon, and A. Church.....	165
	Nuisance-wildlife control practices, policies, and procedures in the United States
4.4	R. D. Brown.....	169
	The impact of changing demographics on the future of deer hunting in the United States
4.5	F. Reimoser.....	172
	Forest ungulate management: integrating wildlife and forest management practices
4.6	B. Bobek, A. Gugala-Miska, G. Harna, B. Kasperczyk, D. Merta, and I. Wierzbowska.....	177
	Overprotection of wolves in Poland: costs and potential consequences for the species
4.7	L. Wiśniowska, M. Mordarska-Duda, and D. Przywara.....	181
	Economic aspects of otter predation in fish ponds and rivers in southern Poland
4.8	L. Marker.....	184
	Reducing conflicts between Namibian farmers and cheetahs
4.9	R. Jackson.....	188
	Managing people-wildlife conflict in Tibet's Qomolangma National Nature Preserve
4.10	V. Szinovatz and H. Gossow.....	192
	Human dimensions of bear management in Austria
4.11	Z. Andersone, L. Balciauskas, and H. Valdmann.....	196
	Human-wolf conflicts in the East Baltic—past, present, and future
4.12	M. Musiani, E. Visalberghi, and L. Biotani.....	200
	The avoidance of virtual barriers by wolves in captivity
4.13	L. Szemethy, Z. Biró, and M. Heltai.....	201
	Problems of predator management in Hungary
4.14	J. Theuerkauf, W. Jędrzejewski, K. Schmidt, and R. Gula.....	206
	Impact of human activity on daily movement patterns of wolves (Canis lupus) in the Białowieża Forest, Poland

4.15	J.-M. Landry.....	209
	The guard dog: protecting livestock and large carnivores
4.16	G. Lichtenstein, E. F. Oribe, M. Grieg-Gran, and S. Mazzucchelli.....	213
	Community management of vicuñas in Perú
4.17	R. Field, S. Csányi, and D. Slate.....	216
	Wildlife and people in suburbs: a comparison of history, ecology, and management on two continents
4.18	R. J. Warren.....	220
	An overview of deer herd management programs in urban and suburban communities of the United States
4.19	P. R. Krausman, W. C. Dunn, L. K. Harris, W. W. Shaw, and W. M. Boyce.....	224
	Can mountain sheep and humans coexist?
4.20	E. E. Esikuri and D. F. Stauffer.....	228
	Elephant damage assessment and mitigation options in Amboseli Basin, Kenya
4.21	O. I. Aalangdong and A. S. Langyintuo.....	232
	Crop damage by wildlife in northern Ghana
4.22	J. J. Scharninghausen, H. Meyer, M. Pfeffer, D. S. Davis, and R. L. Honeycutt.....	235
	Hantavirus infection in United States military training areas in Europe
4.23	G. Coulson.....	238
	Overabundant kangaroo populations in southeastern Australia
4.24	F. N. Kassily and H. Gossow.....	243
	Management and solutions of human-wildlife problems in Kenya
4.25	G. M. King, L. L. James, and E. E. Hanson.....	247
	Applying tribal values to spotted owl management
4.26	P. K. Devers, P. R. Krausman, and W. W. Shaw.....	251
	The role of attitudes in conservation, Pusch Ridge Wilderness, Arizona
4.27	R. R. Lopez, T. R. Peterson, and N. J. Silvy.....	255
	Emphasizing numbers in the recovery of an endangered species: a lesson in underestimating public knowledge
4.28	M. Genghini and G. M. Bazzani.....	259
	Economic measures to improve wildlife habitats: an Italian experience

Chapter 5

Education and outreach in wildlife conservation

5.1	K. B. Reis, H. Campa, III, R. B. Peyton, S. R. Winterstein, D. E. Beyer, Jr., and S. L. Dann.....	263
	Educational interactive workshops: a proactive approach to human wildlife conflicts
5.2	J. P. Loegering and W. D. Edge.....	267
	Reaching a broad audience with a conservation message

5.3	A. S. M. Sinnary and J. L. Kiyapi.....	270
	The case study approach: an educational tool to enhance community development in Kenya
5.4	D. E. Benson and E. G. Darracq.....	273
	Integrating multiple contexts for environmental education
5.5	R. H. Gray.....	277
	Education, outreach, and public involvement in environmental decision-making
5.6	J. Ady, B. Byers, H. Johnson-Schultz, and B. Stieglitz.....	281
	Multifaceted approaches to outreach in a natural resources agency

Chapter 6

Techniques for monitoring and managing wildlife

6.1	R. J. Steidl.....	284
	Practical and statistical considerations for designing population monitoring programs
6.2	P. J. Heglund, J. D. Nichols, J. E. Hines, J. Sauer, J. Fallon, and F. Fallon.....	289
	Modeling avian detection probabilities as a function of habitat using double-observer point count data
6.3	J. R. Sauer, J. D. Nichols, J. E. Hines, T. Boulinier, C. H. Flather, and W. L. Kendall.....	293
	Regional patterns in proportion of bird species detected in the North American Breeding Bird Survey
6.4	K. Schmitt, W. Jaeckel, and A. Atukunda-Muhimbura.....	297
	An information system for wildlife monitoring in Uganda
6.5	S. Varma.....	301
	Estimating population density of large mammals: further evaluation of different methods in Mudumalai Wildlife Sanctuary, India
6.6	S. J. Oyler-McCance, K. P. Burnham, and C. E. Braun.....	305
	Modeling management and conservation strategies for Gunnison sage grouse in Colorado
6.7	D. M. Forsyth.....	308
	Measuring the abundance of Himalayan tahr in New Zealand: problems and potential solutions
6.8	C. Moskát, A. Báldi, and A. Zágon.....	312
	Monitoring riparian bird fauna along the Danube River: a comparison of techniques
6.9	D. J. C. Rodrigues, A. M. D. Fabião, and M. E. M. A. Figueiredo.....	316
	The use of nasal markers for monitoring mallard populations
6.10	E. L. Fitzhugh, R. L. Lewison, and S. P. Galentine.....	319
	Identifying individual pumas from tracks
6.11	Z. Müller, G. Dévai, M. Miskolczi, B. Kiss, A. Tóth, S. Nagy, I. Grigorszky, and T. Jakab.....	322
	Dragonflies as habitat indicators in Hungarian floodplain wetlands
6.12	B. Kiss, A. Tóth, G. Dévai, S. Nagy, Z. Müller, Z. Csabai, and I. Grigorszky.....	327
	Metaphytic macrofaunal biomass in an oxbow lake on the Tisza River, Hungary

6.13	F. Filli, A. Schuster, and K. Robin.....	331
	GIS-based method of recording and representing the distribution of songbirds in the Swiss National Park
6.14	R. G. Linscombe.....	332
	Trapping, furbearer management, and development of Best Management Practices in the United States
6.15	M. Hénault.....	337
	The role of trappers in sustainable forest and ecosystem management
6.16	M. S. Lizarralde and M. Elisetch.....	340
	Economic significance of trapping and standards development in Argentina

Chapter 7

Program MARK: techniques for monitoring wildlife populations

7.1	E. Cooch.....	343
	First steps with program MARK: linear models
7.2	A. B. Franklin.....	350
	Exploring ecological relationships in survival and estimating rates of population change using program MARK
7.3	W. L. Kendall.....	357
	The robust design for capture–recapture studies: analysis using program MARK
7.4	R. J. Barker and G. C. White.....	361
	Joint analysis of live and dead encounters of marked animals
7.5	G. C. White, K. P. Burnham, and D. R. Anderson.....	368
	Advanced features of program MARK

Chapter 8

Reedbed management and conservation in Europe

8.1	B. Poulin.....	378
	Introduction: reedbed management and conservation in Europe
8.2	T. Vásárhelyi and Á. Dely-Draskovits.....	382
	Reed-dependent arthropods: new perspectives in reedbed management
8.3	A. Báldi.....	385
	Maintaining bird diversity in a reed archipelago: effects of area and edges
8.4	R. Mathevet.....	389
	Commercial value of reedbeds and impacts of agro-environmental policies in the Rhone Delta, France
8.5	A. Herzig and G. Wolfram.....	393
	Fish distribution and limiting factors in the reed belt of a shallow lake in Austria
8.6	E. Nemeth, M. Dvorak, K. Busse, and M. Rössler.....	397
	Estimating distribution and density of reed birds by aerial infrared photography
